Dear Ms. Henney,

Please require mandatory safety testing and labeling of genetically engineered foods. Current rules are insufficient. As a consumer I should have the right to choose what foods I use.

The long-term effects of genetically engineered plants are unknown. Animal cloning is unnatural. We don't know what effect they may have on human health or wild plants and animals when intentionally or accidentally released.

Please strengthen the rules, require mandatory safety testing, and allow consumers to choose. Consumer rights should take preference over profits. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Bill Knapp
